

The Electromagnetic Spectrum

The Electromagnetic Spectrum is the name given to the range of all known radiations.

The spectrum is arranged in order of wavelength or frequency. The members of the EM spectrum in order are: Radio, TV, Microwaves, Infra-Red, Visible Light, Ultraviolet, X-Rays and Gamma Rays.

